The rise in quantum, geographical reach, and diversity in approaches in South-South Cooperation make it a crucial additional resource in the implementation of the 2030 Agenda, and supporting Southern priorities. As such, there is a growing momentum to develop tools and indicators for South-South Cooperation in order to achieve better impact and sustainable development results. But how can these monitoring initiatives result in better South-South cooperation practices? What are some good practices and bottlenecks in national level monitoring? The activity will bring together representatives from Southern governments, international organizations, academia, and civil society to exchange ideas on opportunities, issues, and challenges in monitoring South-South Cooperation in the country level.

Speakers include representatives of: BRICS Policy Center, Reality of Aid, UNDP, Arab NGO Network for Development, among others.

For questions, please get in touch with Erin Palomares at epalomares@realityofaid.org and/or Artemy Izmistiev at artemy.izmistiev@undp.org.

We look forward to your participation in this side event!

*Snacks and refreshments will be served.
